PART C — MODULE 1 ANSWER KEY + EXPLANATIONS

RW5-M1-001 — Correct: challenge — Explanation: The text says Tallchief’s success helped question the belief that world-class ballet had to be centered in Europe.

RW5-M1-002 — Correct: Permeable pavement can help manage rainwater by allowing it to soak into the ground. — Explanation: The passage explains that permeable pavement lets rainwater pass through, reducing runoff and helping refill underground water supplies.

RW5-M1-003 — Correct: has — Explanation: The singular subject “number” requires the singular verb “has.”

RW5-M1-004 — Correct: Noor spent the most time sorting clothing. — Explanation: Noor spent 46 minutes sorting, more than Elena, Marcus, or Tyler.

RW5-M1-005 — Correct: It explains why making lacquerware can take a long time. —

Explanation: The quoted sentence says each layer must dry before the next is added, which explains the long process.

RW5-M1-006 — Correct: As a result, — Explanation: Warmer classrooms and lower heating costs are effects of replacing the windows.

RW5-M1-007 — Correct: Garrett Morgan, an inventor and business owner, created practical safety devices, including an improved traffic signal and rescue equipment. — Explanation: This choice introduces Morgan and connects his inventions to public safety.

RW5-M1-008 — Correct: them — Explanation: The plural pronoun “them” correctly refers to the model bridges.

RW5-M1-009 — Correct: sunrise because — Explanation: “Because” correctly introduces the reason the author visited the desert at sunrise.

RW5-M1-010 — Correct: They help bats locate insects at night. — Explanation: The text states that echoes help bats judge the size, shape, and location of insects in the dark.

RW5-M1-011 — Correct: The school opened a quiet study room where students can read, complete homework, or prepare for tests. — Explanation: This choice clearly and concisely combines the two ideas without a comma splice.

RW5-M1-012 — Correct: useful — Explanation: Because some writing on the tablet could still be read, it remained useful to historians.

RW5-M1-013 — Correct: Sewn — Explanation: “Sewn from several kinds of fabric” correctly modifies “the quilt.”

RW5-M1-014 — Correct: The prickly pear cactus has flat pads that store water, helping it survive long periods with little rainfall. — Explanation: This choice emphasizes an adaptation that helps the cactus survive in dry conditions.

RW5-M1-015 — Correct: Therefore, — Explanation: Teams prefer the new field because it has smoother grass and better lighting.

RW5-M1-016 — Correct: where it is now. — Explanation: Sentence 3 logically explains where rain barrels are placed before the paragraph describes how the stored water can be used.

RW5-M1-017 — Correct: will publish — Explanation: “Next semester” requires a future-tense verb phrase.

RW5-M1-018 — Correct: The West route had the highest number of bags collected. — Explanation: The West route had 16 bags collected, more than the other routes.

RW5-M1-019 — Correct: To give examples of tasks volunteers performed in the community kitchen program — Explanation: The sentence lists specific volunteer tasks: chopping, packaging, and delivering food.

RW5-M1-020 — Correct: that — Explanation: “That” correctly introduces the clause identifying which song was arranged by a local composer.

RW5-M1-021 — Correct: increasing — Explanation: The list is parallel: “identifying,” “improving,” and “increasing.”

RW5-M1-022 — Correct: Hedy Lamarr, widely known as an actor, also helped develop a frequency-changing radio guidance idea during World War II. — Explanation: This choice emphasizes Lamarr’s inventive work while acknowledging that she was also an actor.

RW5-M1-023 — Correct: Walking to school can give students regular exercise while reducing traffic near campus. — Explanation: This sentence clearly introduces the essay’s focus on benefits of walking to school.

RW5-M1-024 — Correct: detailed — Explanation: A map showing trail names, distances, and landmarks would be more detailed than vague directions.

RW5-M1-025 — Correct: which — Explanation: “Which” correctly begins the nonessential clause set off by commas.

RW5-M1-026 — Correct: It presents one possible explanation for a behavior researchers are studying. — Explanation: The second sentence gives a possible reason some birds collect shiny objects.

RW5-M1-027 — Correct: Consequently, — Explanation: Residents’ ability to learn about local events more easily is an effect of creating the shared calendar.

PART D — MODULE 2 ANSWER KEY + EXPLANATIONS

RW5-M2-001 — Correct: blurs — Explanation: Anatsui’s work transforms discarded materials into fine art, so it blurs the boundary between those categories.
